The Hulbert Financial Digest is the nation's premier source of objective and independent performance ratings for the investment newsletter industry. The HFD currently monitors the more than 500 portfolios maintained by nearly 200 newsletters covering stocks, bonds, mutual funds, commodities and options.

Editor Mark Hulbert is a pioneer in newsletter rankings and ratings. In addition to The HFD, his columns regularly appear on MarketWatch.com and in the Sunday New York Times.

The subscribers to the newsletter are individual investors interested in comparing the track record of newsletters on the market today.

Hulbert does not endorse any one publication, but is objective; the results give the investor the information necessary to make wise choices.
